Outreach Training

Drawing on the latest research from Climate Outreach as well as the work of Sarah Stein Lubrano and David Graeber, this workshop will be useful for both experienced and new outreachers.

When training is available, you can REGISTER HERE.

What is this training about?

We will look at:

- What the current research is telling us about effective ways to engage with people on the climate and ecological emergency.
- Which messages resonate with different demographics.
- What motivates people to take action.
