

ACTION : 14th September

What's happening on Monday?

Together we have shouted from the rooftops with Love for the Earth, for Life itself. And we Rage against those who still deny the science and delay the change that's so desperately needed. Rage! Yes and rightly so, because Government, the security services, the media all know that climate breakdown is happening - yet where is their plan? A plan to secure a liveable future for the British people? The full National Security Assessment has been hidden - redacted. So, to build the world we want and need, to build a path for our children's survival, it's clear society must have a common understanding of the facts. And, we are going to insist upon it.

There will be noise. There will be love and it will be for EVERYONE.

Because we're all in the same soup and it's coming to the boil.

Time: Midday Location: Central London, details TBA.
