

Digital Rebellion

Digital Rebellion are ordinary people, who are using the internet, phone and social media as a positive force for tackling the climate emergency.

Together we have power. We join our voices through direct action online to shout the truth, amplify action on the streets, promote global climate justice and help shape public opinion.

Maybe you cannot take to the streets, or that sort of activism is not right for you. Maybe you do these things but also want a more effective voice online. Whoever you are, you can and should join the rebellion. Join us.
