

Introduction

Extinction Rebellion UK (XRUK) is dedicated to creating a just and sustainable world. We believe that meaningful system change begins not only with what we demand of governments and institutions but with how we treat one another. This is contained in our Principles and Values. The culture that is built within our movement must reflect the world we are trying to create.

This policy sets out XRUK's approach to safeguarding, including the standards of behaviour expected, the responsibilities of individuals and groups, and the processes for reporting and responding to concerns. It applies to all participants in XRUK activities, including volunteers, contractors, and anyone acting on behalf of XRUK.
